is two days THE SUN's tobacco fund for our soldiers in the trenches has teaped upward more than $1,000, due the thoughtfulness of about 400 SUN the tobacco when it reaches the expeditionary force will mean more than the comfort it can give; it will mean that the hearts of their own people are folowing the soldiers right to the firing me. It will be a tobacco blended of he best that is in the United States.

The Sunday leap of the fund is due erineipally to the racegoing element, ohn Cavanagh, who brought his host of lends to subscribe $401. It is not easy take a man's mind off the events, but avanagh raked Aqueduct track from one of to the other. After he had begun as campaign the news spread and all hat Cavanagh had to do was to wait his friends to come to him.

The G. A. Cochran stable, headed by G. Midgley, the trainer, pooled $27.50 r the fund. A few days ago the R. T. Vison, Jr., stable force sent in $32, and esterday in the list of contributors here was the name of James Shevlin, evently elected head of the Queens ounty Jockey Club.

District Attorney Predicts Result of Cruger Inquiry by Grand Jury.

DESIRE OF GOV. WHITMAN

Executive Convinced Graft Ring Assisted Alfredo Cocchi to Escape.

The Grand Jury inquiry into police nishandling of the Ruth Cruger murder case has been so greatly broadened by new information obtained by District Attorney Swann that a complete overhauling of the Police Department is predicted by Judge Swann and his assist-fying and bringing to justice a new ring of police grafters will be taken up. This activity was decided upon in the conference held by Gov. Whitman and District Attorney Swann in Albany, Gov. Whitman told Judge Swann that he has satisfied himself that police grafters are working in an organized way, having working in an organized way, having learned nothing from the lessons of the downfall of Becker. The Governor intimated that he has been watching the New York Police Department very closely for the past year and that he has made up his mind that the District Attorney's office must take up the work of exposing grafters where it was left off after the conviction and execution of off after the conviction and execution of Charles Becker

Worse Than Mere Blundering.

Mr. Whitman told Judge Swann he is convinced there was far worse than mere blundering in the police handling of the Cruger case, and that there are obvious suggestions that the police in-ability to connect Cocchi with Miss Cruger's disappearance and that their blindness in letting an obviously impli-cated man get out of the country were due to powerful influences brought to bear upon them. He instructed Judge Swann to locate those influences as a major effort of the Grand Jury inquiry and to work night and day to smash the new graft system which, he has a small of the Grand Jury inquiry and to work night and day to smash the new graft system which, he has a small of the Grand Jury inquiry and August of Tourist State of the Grand Jury inquiry and August of Tourist State of the Grand Jury inquiry and August of Tourist State of the Grand Jury inquiry and August of Tourist State of the Grand Jury inquiry and August of Tourist State of the Grand Jury inquiry and August of Tourist State of the Grand Jury inquiry and August of Tourist State of the Grand Jury inquiry and August of Tourist State of the Grand Jury inquiry and August of Tourist State of the Grand Jury inquiry and August of Tourist State of the Grand Jury inquiry and August of Tourist State of the Grand Jury inquiry and August of Tourist State of the Grand Jury inquiry and the Grand Jury inqui sured himself, exists almost as shame-lessly as it did when Herman Rosen-thal was murdered to block exposure of

For the present the Grand Jury, which will resume its work this morning, will content itself with tracing neglect in the police work on the Cruger case.
